Blow Dealt to Party Control Of State Labour Exchanges

The Executive of the State Employment Service, the body charged with implementation of the Labour Exchange Law, was "demolished" on Tuesday.

The three will be Mr. Salomon Mizel, the President of the Executive, and two persons charged with public relations.

The Chairman, Mr. Mizel, said that the Executive had been set up to administer the Labour Exchange Law, which was passed in 1951.

Moslem Religious Courts Given Legal Status Under Kadis Law

More independence for Kadis and greater representation of Moslems on the Kadis Nominations Committee were among the demands made by Knesset Members yesterday in the continuation of the debate begun on Monday night on the Kadis Bill.

As Judge of the Moslem religious courts, Kadis have exclusive jurisdiction over matters of personal status involving Moslems.

Mr. Yosef Khatami (Zionist) said that the bill would give the Kadis a more independent status.

Dr. Eliezer Shapira (Agudat Israel) said that the bill would give the Kadis a more independent status.

New Knesset Design Termed 'Blend of Greek and Modern'

The new conception of the Knesset building — a model of which was unveiled in Jerusalem on Tuesday (see photo) — is a blend of classic Greek and modern trends, according to Mr. Moshe Rosetti, Clerk of the Knesset.

The main part of the building is rectangular, it is surrounded on all four sides by a colonnade of columns.

The building was turned to face south last year by Mr. Shimon Peres, former Minister of the Interior.
